

Initial

SPONTANEOUS - Communicate with a network of your choosing composed of friends and family to initiate a spontaneous event. These events expire within a certain amount of time.

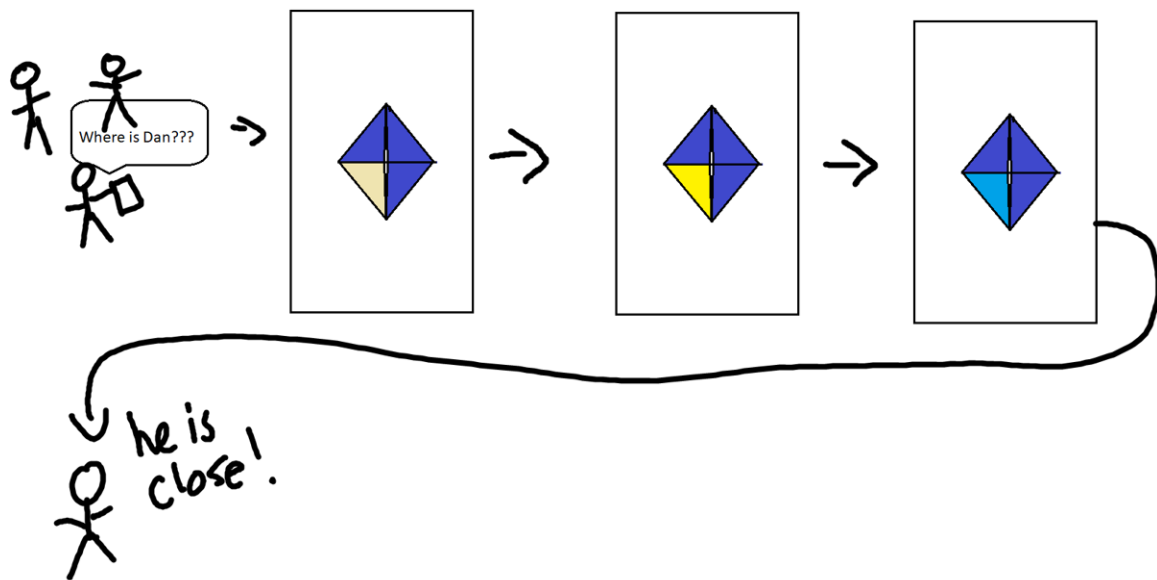

FamFriendFoodReview - Look through the application to find restaurants that your families and friends have eaten at and see their reviews. Ping and ask them about what to get while at the restaurant for instant communication.

ETA - When in a group of friends, communicate your location based on your proximity to the group of friends you are meant to meet. When individuals that are meant to meet get closer to each other, their respective color in the app become similar until they are the same. This way you can see how far away your missing friends are.

DownToDrink - This is an application that is based on location. You add people you work with or work in close proximity with and can quickly ping to see if anyone is down to drink. This is useful because it'll only ask people who are near you and are likely off around the same time as you and has a quick yes no functionality.

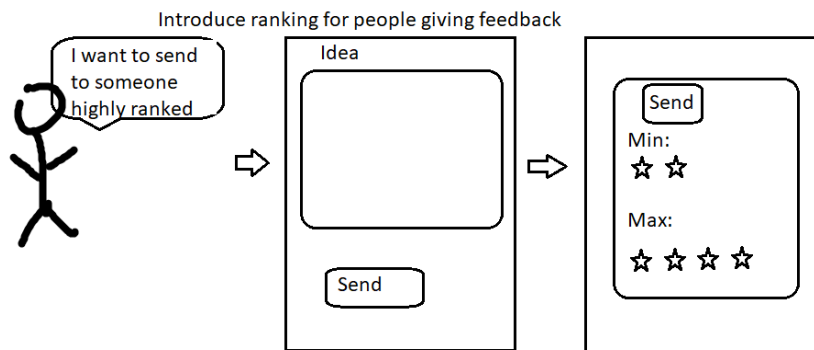

As If I Knew Nothing - This idea allows you to explain a concept to a stranger and get feedback. This feedback would be completely detached and unbiased and allows you to gauge how well you truly know a subject.

Refined

A refinement for As If I Knew Nothing adding ranking for the people who give feedback!

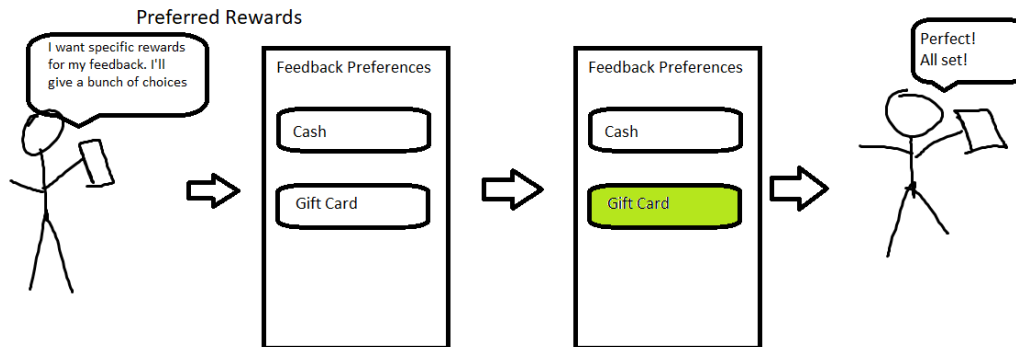

A refinement for As If I Knew Nothing that allows users to send compensation for feedback

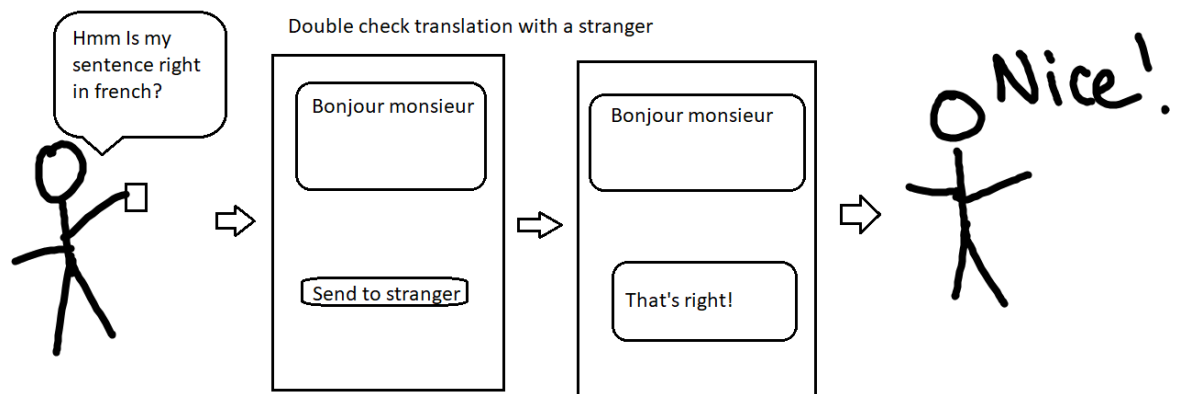

Add rewards/compensatio for the person giving feedback

A refinement for As If I Knew Nothing which allows the people who give feedback to choose how they prefer to get compensated

A refinement for As If I Knew Nothing which allows for double checking translations

A refinement for As If I Knew Nothing that allows users to send explanations with images

